

Switch on to RNIB volunteers

RNIB's nationwide network of volunteers are available to support blind and partially sighted people in their own homes with a range of services.

Home technology support

If you need support with setting up digital television, set top boxes, DVD players and other household appliances, we can help. Our volunteers will help you to understand instruction booklets and to install the latest technology.

IT home support

If you have a personal computer at home, we can offer support with installing and troubleshooting hardware, software and internet connections. The only thing our volunteers don't do is provide training.

Talking Book home support

We support RNIB Talking Book customers with installing, demonstrating and troubleshooting their DAISY player. Our volunteers can also help with choosing and ordering new book titles.
